HISTORICAL PRECEDENTS

Biedermeier was an influential German style of furniture design during the early 19th century

The style adapted from the influential French Empire style of Napoleon 1 and the ancient Roman Empire styles to modern early 19th century homes

- Simple and functional Biedermeier styled architecture, furniture and decorative finishes
- Cherry wood ornamentation and furniture unifies the interior
- Contrast in colors and patterns compliment the interior
- Biedermeier style influenced floral patterns

INSPIRATION

“Well it’s nice to finally have guests. I swear Fran and I act our age. We are such homebodies. Well, take off your coat, the closet is the first door to your left.”

“Don’t be shy, I know it’s been a while since we’ve seen each other but come on in I’ll give you a tour of our new place while we wait for Fran to get back. You know Fran, she was so interested in all sorts of styles when we were moving in. She came across the Biedermeier style from her mother and just fell in love with it, so we had it incorporated to the whole condo.”

“She tried her best at being festive for your visit, look she even made you some snacks. The woman is the sweetest but needs some help with her cooking, haha. She almost burnt the place down the other day making rice.”

“Here we have Fran’s study pretty much, we’ve tried making it into a parlor room, a social room, but Fran and her molecular science profession, she can never fully retire from it I swear.”

“You know that old vintage shop you told us about years ago. Fran and I still have some of the figurines we purchased while we were out there. The cost of these jokers were definitely worth keeping around.”

“Hey you remember back in the day when we shared a room and when it was never quiet. Well look who’s got more space to make noise now haha. It’s really been Dana’s, you remember seeing her recently right? This room has really been for her, she visits a lot.”

“There’s even a separate bathroom for Dana too and for other guests of course. The roll-in shower helps a lot for when she stays over.”

“Fran and I adore these windows in our room. They really help Fran’s perspective on life since she hasn’t been able to hear, she sure loves the view.”
