

I am Catsanova, the loving pet of my owners Pat and Fran.
Oh good! Here comes Pat now. She always looks so happy when she comes home; I know how much she loves her space.

Pat said that the living room is her favorite room. She loves how open the space is. I love it because I can lie by the fireplace all day in the winter.

It looks like Fran is having lunch. This is where they always have Christmas dinner. I love it because Fran always sneaks me food from the table. Oops, she saw me on the counter...

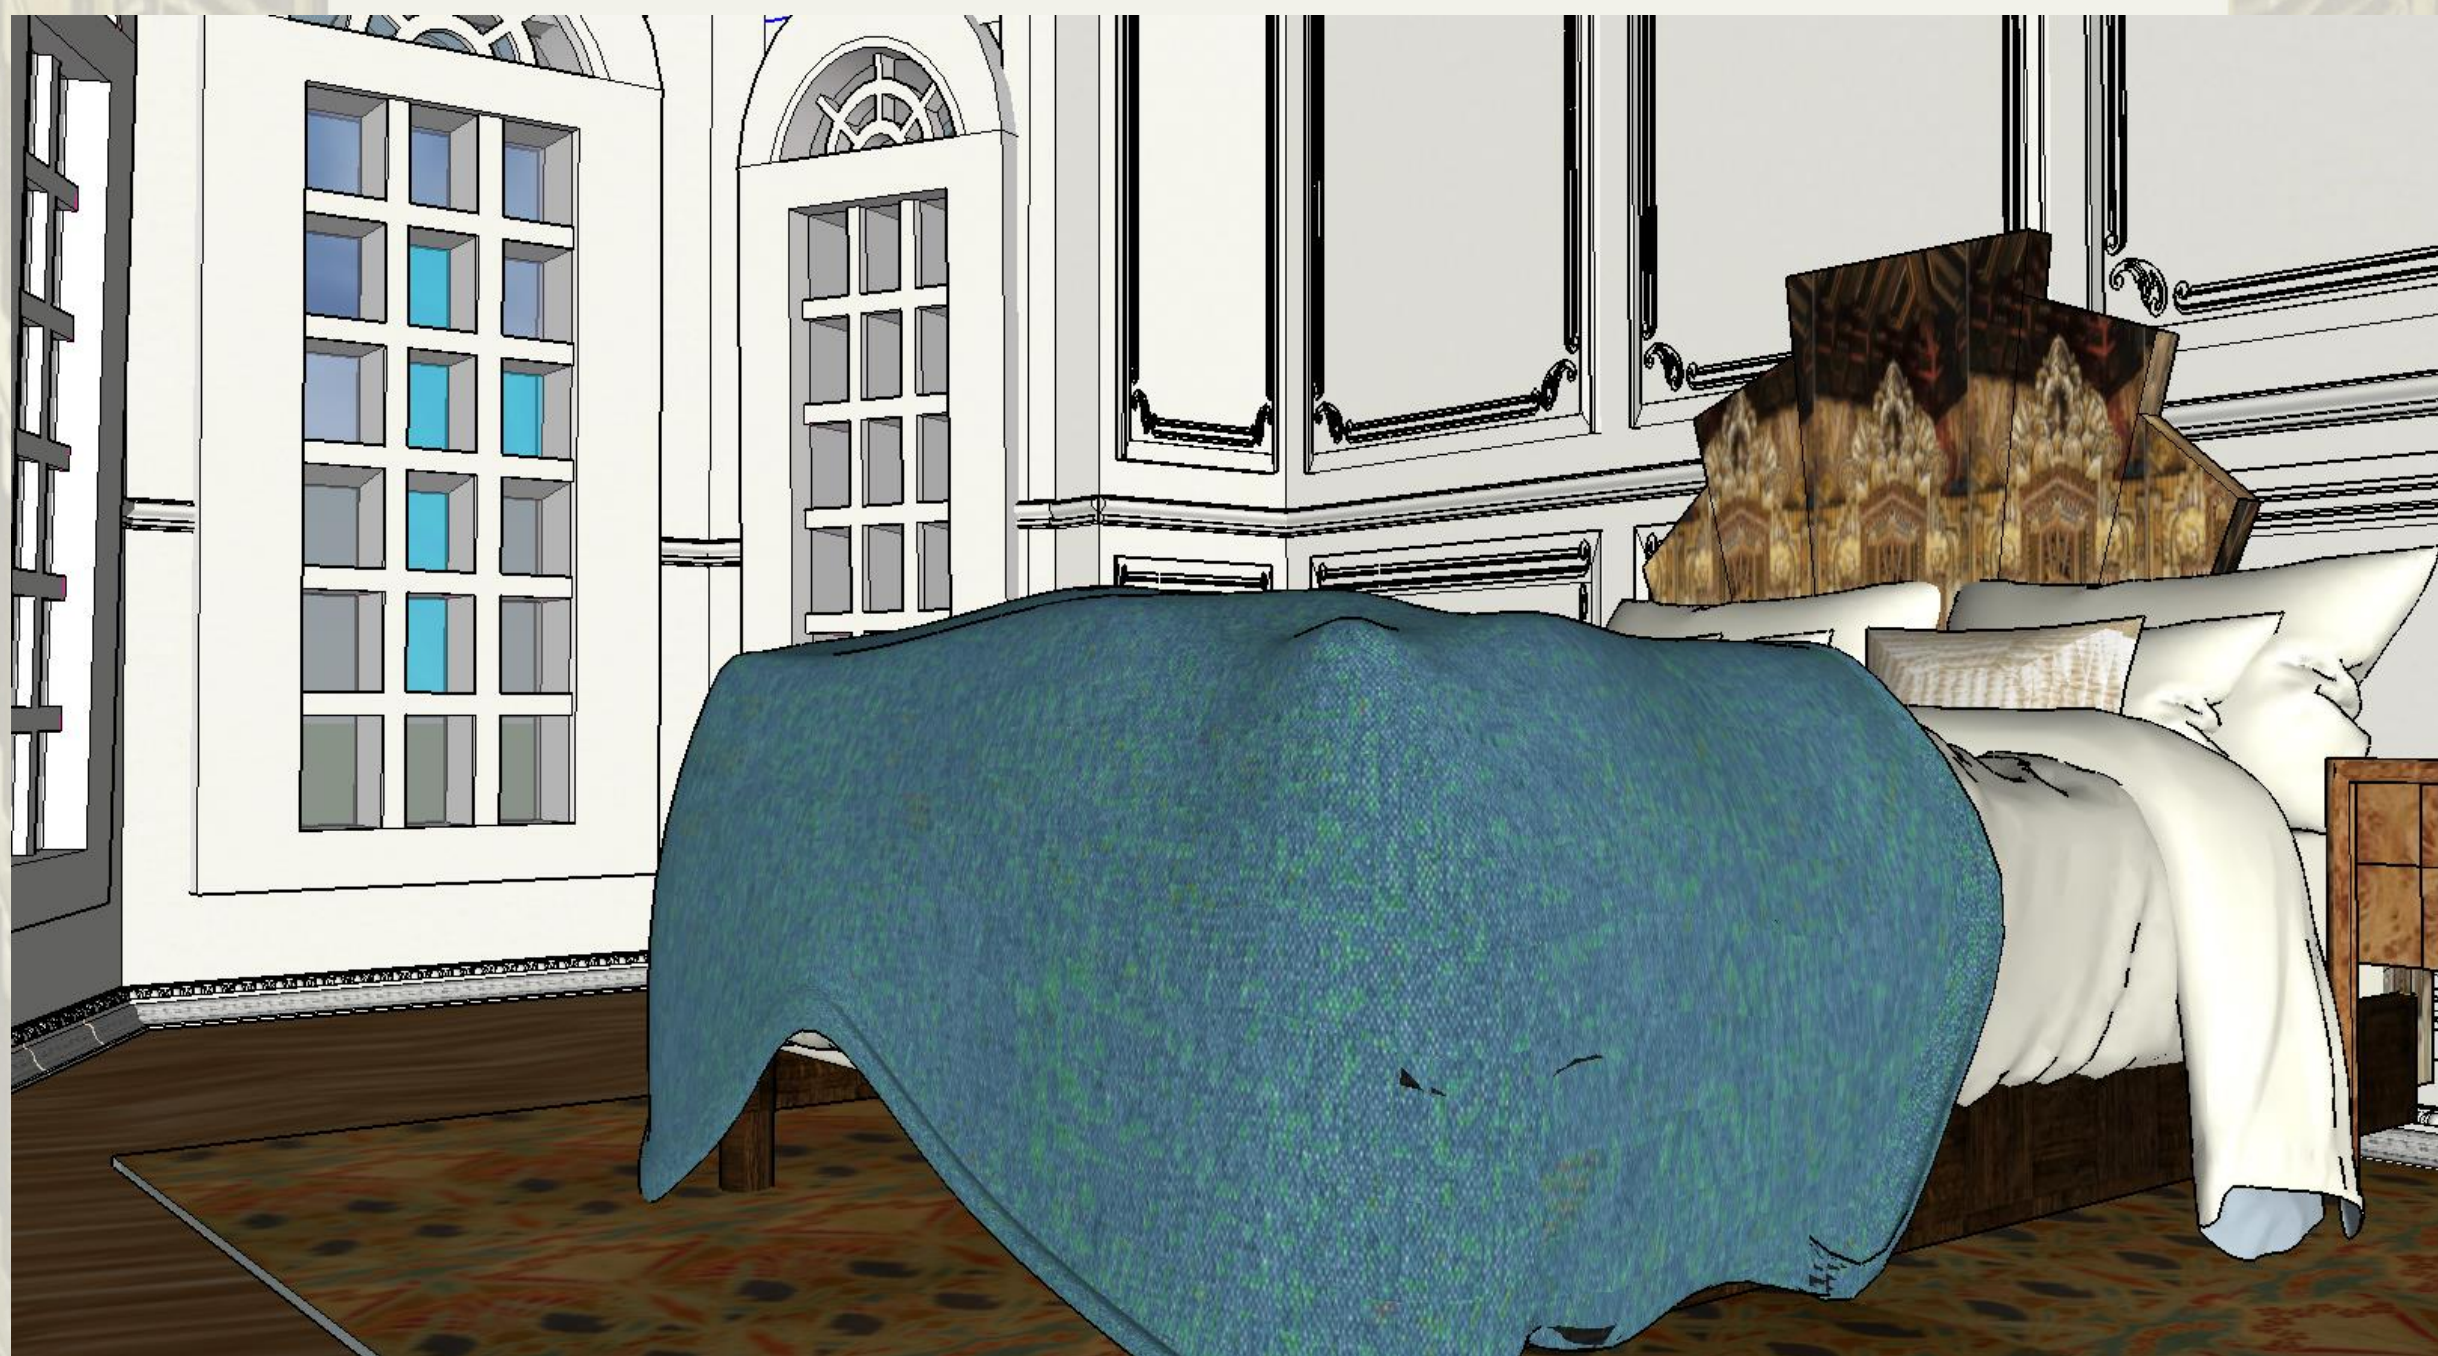

Look, Dana is home! The kitchen is her favorite place; she's always the chef in the family. Dana has to use that weird chair, so it's harder for her to do normal tasks. Dana told her mom's that she feels like the kitchen was made for her.

This is the guest room, it's where the kids sleep. It's also my favorite place to for a cat nap.

Oh hi Dale! Dale is Dana's brother. He's really tall, so tall that he says most showers won't fit him, which is why he loves coming to see his moms.

This is my owner's room. Sometimes they let me sleep in the bed on the bed, but usually they let Baxter sleep with them. Hissss...

I secretly sleep in their closet sometimes, the clothes are so comfy.

Fran gets mad that I get my hair on everything.

The master bath is Fran's favorite place to be. She loves to relax in her tub. I worry about her now that she's getting older, but I know that she's safe in her new home.
