

Looking for an Internship?

Publically-minded graduate and undergraduate upperclassmen students are invited to apply for NCACC's internship program - a program that's focused on helping students gain real-world experience working in local government.

www.ncacc.org/internship

Want to make a difference?

North Carolina's 100 counties are essential partners with state government in providing services to the state's more than 10 million citizens, including the following:

- Health and human services
- Economic development
- Education
- Administration
- Public works

What areas do you have an interest in? As the form of government closest to the people, counties offer a unique perspective that makes them critical players in decisions affecting their citizens.

Join
Team
County

