Description:

You will create an annotated bibliography of (number) sources for your response to an ethical issue paper. The purpose of the assignment is to weigh the potential usefulness of a variety of research sources, including print, electronic, and field-based. Keep in mind that you will need to provide background information about the nature of the career in order to put the ethical issue you've selected into context for your reader. The bibliography will be formatted in the style of your career field. It will include a statement of scope and an alphabetized list of your source entries, followed by a descriptive and evaluative annotation of each.
